How to Recruit Smart Workers

There are 50 different smart working options to choose from in our infamous Smart Workforce Model.

Feasibility Workshop

The trick is work out which options will work for you business and which will not, and you can do that through our one-day feasibility workshop. We have a tried and tested methodology that we take your team through.

In our Feasibility Workshop, your top Team will unleash which of those 50 options match your customer demand, so that your business is ready to test them.

Our Feasibility Workshops are perfect for Business Teams, including HR, who want to unlock the full range of options available in a Smart Workforce Model in order to build a business case for senior leadership or stakeholders. We first focus on service demand and which options will enable better customer experience which leads to some fabulous new options for your people. Win/Win!

We will guide your Team sort out which options will work for you and which to avoid. You leave with 3 possibilities to pilot, a rounded understanding of the impact to your business and an understanding the savings and benefits to the business, the employee, the customer, and your community.

Successful smart working is built on trust and empowering employees to be productive wherever they are working. This award-winning Workshop is the first step in helping Leaders of the future to understand just how different it is to manage people who are not in the same office, how to build 2-way trust and build a team with a growth mindset.

It is a no-nonsense, immersive and action-packed workout full of practical takeaways that our panel of practitioners have refined over 20 years of successful smart working implementation
