How to be a successful Hybrid or Remote Colleague

Workshop Outline

At the end of the session your people will:

- Understand the key challenges of working as part of a hybrid/remote or distributed team and be able to overcome them so that they are productive wherever they are working.
- Identify ways to build 2-way trust and good working relationships within their team and are able to speak up and share ideas or opinions in an empathetic and meaningful way.
- Explain and practice 5 key skills that will enable them to be a successful smart worker.
- Learn how to engage for success on distributed team meetings and the necessity for some face to face time.
- Learn how to take responsibility for their own wellbeing.

Format

Zoom or face to face

Pre and Post Learning also included

Smart Learning Style

Unlike traditional learning, Smart Learning suits how we learn naturally, whether face to face or virtually. We turn theory into storytelling, practice into rich media sessions and pepper this with short bursts of knowledge to increase knowledge retention rates.

Facilitator

Olly Thompson, our Director of Revolution, will lead the workshop. Olly is our Lead Facilitator and he is on a mission. He's passionate about helping leaders to improve the way their teams operate now and in the future and has been implementing and training leaders in 'Smart Skills' for 20 years. He leads learning that is designed to build a culture of trust that attracts and retains the best talent. Without trust, Hybrid and Smart Working will never embed.

Investment

From £2500 for a team of up to 10
